Dear Dad —

The only reason I'm sending this letter to your office is because I didn't want Bee to see this enclosure. I mailed a package to you today to 375 Park and it contains an Xmas present for Bee — six beautiful colorful guest towels and a lovely cover for her bed tray. It's so hard to find anything nice [inserted: so] that you have to buy things as you see them.

Just wanted you to know what was in the package so you could take care of it for me.

Love —

Bob

P.S Be sure to let me know as soon as the package arrives.

Notes:

Letter is written on printed stationery with an image of a woman sitting under a palm tree. The location of sender is not written on the letter, but it is inferred from other letters written at the same time. The letter is also not dated; "Letters in a Box" dates the letter as December 17, 1944.
