

Exit Slip

Is it fair for others to judge your personal life? Why or why not?

How can the study of the private life historical figures teach us more about their character and how they lived?

In your opinion, to what extent should the private life of a public figure be considered (judged) in evaluating his or her legacy?

Exit Slip

Is it fair for others to judge your personal life? Why or why not?

How can the study of the private life a historical figures teach us more about their character and how they lived?

In your opinion, to what extent should the private life of a public figure be considered (judged) in evaluating his or her legacy?